

Lookbook AI Studio

Turn one product photo into a full ad campaign — no models, no studio, no shoot.

What It Is

Lookbook AI Studio is a done-for-you content service that takes a single flat product photo and spins it into a complete set of cinematic visuals: hero shots, lifestyle scenes, lookbooks, and short campaign videos. Using AI image and video tools (Fancy AI, Higgsfield, Midjourney, Runway), you deliver the kind of high-end imagery that brands like Gucci and Balenciaga pay studios five figures for — for a fraction of the cost. You sell the output, not the software, so clients never have to learn the tools.

How It Makes Money

The model is a monthly content retainer plus per-campaign one-offs. Buyers are e-commerce store owners, Amazon/Etsy sellers, DTC apparel and beauty brands, jewelry makers, and small agencies who need a constant stream of scroll-stopping creative but can't afford photoshoots. You charge per content pack or per month for a set number of assets. Upsell: paid-ad creative, UGC-style video, and seasonal lookbooks.

Startup Costs

This is a service, so costs are tools and time, not inventory:

- AI image/video subscriptions (Fancy AI, Midjourney, Higgsfield, Runway): $60–$200/mo combined
- Canva Pro for layout/lookbook assembly: $15/mo
- Stock fonts / mockup assets: $0–$50 one-time
- Simple portfolio site (Coolify-hosted) + domain: $15/yr domain, hosting effectively free
- Cold-outreach tooling (email finder, CRM): $30–$80/mo
- Optional: a faster PC or cloud GPU credits for video renders: $0–$50/mo

Total to launch: $150–$400. No China sourcing needed — this is pure digital service.

The Numbers

Cost per deliverable is almost entirely your time plus a few cents of AI render credits. A single product-photo-to-campaign pack costs roughly $5–$15 in compute and 1–2 hours of work.

- Cost per content pack (10–15 assets): ~$15 in credits + your time
- Sell price per pack: $300–$600 one-off
- Monthly retainer (30–40 assets/mo): $800–$2,000
- Profit per retainer client: ~$750–$1,900/mo after credits

Realistic monthly projection: Land 5 retainer clients at $1,000/mo = $5,000/mo revenue, under $300 in tool costs, netting ~$4,700/mo. Scale to 10 clients and you clear $9,000+/mo working solo before you need to hire an editor.

How To Start

1. Pick a niche (jewelry, skincare, streetwear) so your portfolio looks specialized, not generic.
2. Take 5–8 free product photos from public catalogs and run them through Fancy AI / Midjourney to build a "before and after" portfolio.
3. Stand up a one-page Coolify site showing the transformations and your packages.
4. Define 3 tiers: Starter pack ($300), Campaign pack ($600), Monthly retainer ($1,000+).
5. DM and email 30 Shopify/Etsy/Amazon sellers a day with one free sample of THEIR product transformed.
6. Close on a call by showing the free sample, then onboard with a simple intake form (logo, product photos, brand colors).
7. Deliver fast, ask for a testimonial, and pitch the monthly retainer on delivery.

Where To Get Customers

- Instagram and TikTok DMs to small product brands (lead with a free transformed sample of their own product)
- Etsy, Amazon, and Shopify seller Facebook groups and subreddits
- Cold email to DTC brands found via Apollo or LeadRipper
- Local boutiques and makers markets — offline brands rarely have good photography
- Fiverr/Upwork to seed early reviews, then graduate clients to direct retainers

Pro Tips

- Always lead outreach with a free, unsolicited sample of the prospect's actual product — conversion on "here's what your store could look like" crushes any pitch deck.
- Sell outcomes, not AI. Clients pay for "campaign-ready visuals by Friday," not for prompts. Never reveal the exact tools.
- Build a swipe file of winning prompts and aspect-ratio presets per niche so each new client takes minutes, not hours — that's where the margin lives.